My darling Nephew:

I cannot express the pleasure you are causing by writing me, & I respond to it in haste. The Boston Anti-Slavery Bazaar had a strong idea of having you, & this information has caused me no little pain, for it is confident to change your mind so frequently - What would I not give to see you at this moment, & I am counting the days as they roll on for the time to arise, when you and Mother will bring you on. We will expect ourselves to make you stay with us comfortable & happy - Little Margaret's Birth day was the 1st of May, she had a little party, the young ladies looked smart, danced the Lancers, Polka &c, they also played

James of all sorts, had a supper at 8½ & left at 9½. She desires me to say that your presence would have increased her enjoyment. The Opera has ceased for this week, in consequence of a disturbance between the singers & the Conductor, they will perform the Russian next week. Mr. Henry's election as Mayor has given great satisfaction to us all there are still a great many fires & unemployed - Dear David left us this AM for College, & it is sad news we afford dear Mary Ann took to her heart & Mary Paula, Maria ran off to school to avoid saying adieu & Aunt Pauline then to her room to give way to her feelings Mary says you must write her & hurry on to see her. Give your dear Mother that I had a long talk with Mrs. Davis.

the other day about you are - She is decidedly attached to your parents - Le Beau is very kind & can live many days they say - I heard her desire to see his picture in Piquette's office & to it, but Dr. Parson thought it better to yield to his request I have not heard any thing further.

There is not for a fear of being laughed at, I should certainly telegraph to find out if Dr. Parson had left - I am growing so anxious to see him & now that Dan is gone, I shall feel as lonely, Mary, Fred, & Anne & Pauline is just as well with her young friends - I go out but seldom & that is to walk - There is Eliza, Beckie Mary, Leina & the other females - Refuse to them all till long I will answer her letter in a few days. Don't forget to kiss your dear parents for me. Love to Mrs M and all school
